

1. In Chapter 13 of The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn, why must Huck and Jim scramble to make it off the wrecked steamboat?

All of these choices are correct.

Their raft has drifted away and they are stuck.

The wreck could break up at any moment.

There is a gang of murderers aboard.

2. In Chapter 13 of The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn, what does Huck feel guilty about?

He left murderers on board with no way off the wreck.

He is letting the Widow and his Pap think he is dead.

Jim is being blamed for a murder Huck faked.

He is not the adventurer his friend Tom Sawyer is.

3. How does Huck attempt to save the murderers in Chapter 13 of The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn?

He paddles to shore and tells a wild story about his family being stuck on the boat.

He lights a huge fire on the bank beside the boat, hoping to catch the attention of someone in the town.

He leaves their boat tied to the stern, even though it is nicer than his own.

He pushes the raft close to the steamboat so they can jump on.

4. In Chapter 13 of The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn, what is most likely the fate of the three murderers on the wreck of the steamboat?

They made it off the wreck and are hiding out on Jackson's Island.

They shot each other to death.

They drowned in the Mississippi River.

They are hung by the sheriff of Booth's Landing.

5. Why do the two murderers go back into the wreck of the steamboat in Chapter 13 of The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn?

One has forgotten his watch.

The wreck leans to one side and they almost fall into the water.

They think they hear something.

They decide to go through the pockets of the man they are planning to kill.

1. In Chapter 14 of The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn, why does Jim think King Solomon didn't really care about any of his children?

He had so many.

He said he was going to cut one in half.

None of these answers are correct.

The stories only talk about his wives.

2. What does Jim conclude about language in Chapter 14 of The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn?

That all the languages are really the same.

That Huck has made up the whole thing.

That people who speak French are showing off.

That if cats and dogs have only one language, people should, too.

3. In Chapter 14 of The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn, what does Huck say about the dauphin (whom he calls a dolphin)?

That people claim he came to America.

That many people say he died in prison.

That he was the son of King Louis XVI of France.

All of these are true.

4. In Chapter 14 of The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn, when Huck tells Jim they had quite an adventure, what is Jim's response?

Jim tells Huck that if that is adventure, he never wants to have another one.

Jim agrees that it was pretty fun.

Jim tells Huck it was God's intervention that got them out of the situation.

Jim thanks Huck for getting him out of the situation.

5. What item of the murderer's loot sparks a long discussion between Huck and Jim in Chapter 14 of The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn?

The silver

The books

The cigars

The blankets

1. What is the noise Huck is listening for on the river?

whooping

sobbing

laughing

snoring

2. What makes it hard for Huck to see as he searches for the raft where Jim is?

dense fog

a gnat in his eye

blinding light

broken bifocals

3. When Huck finds Jim, what is Jim doing?

fishing

drinking

sleeping

eating

4. What do Huck and Jim plan to do in Cairo?

find Pap

take a boat home

take a boat North

rob a store

5. What does Huck ultimately feel after tricking Jim?

glee

nostalgia

regret

self-loathing

1. What upsetting realization do Huck and Jim make in Chapter 16 of The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn?

That dogs have tracked Jim.

That they have passed by Cairo in the fog.

That they are no longer alone on the river.

That Huck's father, Pap Finn, has found them.

2. In Chapter 16 of The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn, why do the men not come aboard the raft?

They believe that Jim is a slave who belongs to Huck.

They don't have the time to bother with only one man.

Huck manages to escape them in the fog.

They think a man with smallpox is on the raft.

3. In Chapter 16 of The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn, on what do Huck and Jim blame their bad luck?

A black cat crossed Jim's path back in town.

Huck telling too many lies about their situation.

Huck touched a snakeskin with his bare hands back on Jackson's Island.

Flicking a spider into a candle.

4. What does Huck feel guilty about in Chapter 16 of The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn?

Taking something away from Miss Watson and a man he doesn't even know.

Taking a slave to freedom.

All of these answers are correct.

Telling Jim he would help him and then planning to turn him in.

5. What happens to the raft in Chapter 16 of The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn?

It gets run over and destroyed by a steamboat .

It is tied up but gets loose and floats away.

Mad at Huck's decision to turn him in, Jim takes the raft and leaves Huck stranded.

It is leaking badly and they must abandon it.